Opera on Monday evening, when she sang Juliette before a crowded and enthusiestic audience. This is the first time she has sung at the Opera in Paris this year.

After the Manhattan season she had been announced on three cocasions, but each time was compelled to disappoint the public there as she had not fully recovered from her arduous work in America.

Her appearance for the first time at the Patis Opera in Henry Fevre's musical setting of Maeterlinck's "Monna Vanna"
has been postponed until September 29.

He also refused to discuss the question of threatened rearrest for his failure to close the salcons last Sunday after he had been placed under technical arrest by order of Attorney-General Wilson.

Heads of the local organization of salcon keepers made preparations to-day to fight the avowed intentions of reformers to have salcon men arrested and held under $1,500 ball each for their violations of last Sunday. Lawyers for the liquor dealers claim that men who are already under bonds of several thousand dollars because of repeated arrests are sure to appear for hearing before the Grand Jury in October and that the county criminal courts will annul any attempt to force them under bonds that would probably force them to jail because of inability to secure bondsmen.
